

Alternative Location for Containers - Lynn Brem

I'm hearing two main schools of thought around the question of where to place containers.

1. A large contingent of safety-oriented people believe with good reason that our emergency supplies should be located close to the Ramada, because that's where they'll be needed in the event of a disaster.
2. Many other members are very concerned about how that would impact their aesthetic experience at the Ramada.

Attached is a proposal for a site that I believe addresses many of the needs and concerns of both parties.
