

This is a photo of the terra cotta “chimney flues” that mark the water shut off valves at the end of each street. They will prevent grass from growing over the lids.

